

[BIOL55001.2255] HTS: Feedback for Zebrafish

1 message

mvoscl@rit.edu <mvoscl@rit.edu>
Reply-To: mvoscl@rit.edu

Thu, Apr 9, 2026 at 6:08 PM

Good afternoon!

A good start. Might be good to dig up some citations now for when you develop your Intro.

For the Intro, best to leave out the first bullet in HTS....instead, focus on the subject matter like in a real paper. Grab the reader...why is the source paper interesting? What aspect are you focusing on and why is that important? Then continue with how they did the study, how you are using their data, and a short paragraph about what you accomplished.

Otherwise, I'm looking forward to seeing how it materializes and what you discovered.

Best,

Dr. Osier

Michael Osier | Associate Professor
mvoscl@rit.edu | Thomas H. Gosnell School of Life Sciences
54392, Gosnell 1338 | Rochester Institute of Technology

Groot: "It's funny. Funny what the night does to a man.
You're all right during the day."
Garth: "During the day they can see."
Red River (1948)

CONFIDENTIALITY NOTE: The information transmitted, including attachments, is intended only for the person(s) or entity to which it is addressed and may contain confidential and/or privileged material. Any review, retransmission, dissemination or other use of, or taking of any action in reliance upon this information by persons or entities other than the intended recipient is prohibited. If you received this in error, please contact the sender and destroy any copies of this information.